

Mobile Crisis Teams: Progress Report Cumulative October 2022 - July 2024

Alabama’s Crisis System of Care provides all individuals with someone to call, someone to respond, somewhere to go in times of crisis. Mobile Crisis Teams are “someone to respond,” and are essential for accessing mental health services in the state’s rural counties.

Mobile Crisis Teams offer community-based intervention to individuals in need wherever they are: home, work, or in the community. Teams are trained to provide triage, assessment, de-escalation, peer support, coordination with medical services, supportive counseling, crisis planning, and follow-up. Teams can work independently or as co-responders with law enforcement.

Mobile Crisis Teams decrease hospital emergency visits and arrests for individuals in crisis. Teams coordinate with 988 and Crisis Centers for crisis services.
